Cordelia McFadyen

If you want to commiserate over your health issues while sipping a cup of lukewarm fennel tea, Cordelia McFadyen—Board Certified Nutritionist—ain't for you. But if you're ready to put your game face on, get your sh together (literally) and become the "Gutsy Goddess" you know you can be, read on ... Cordelia, who's the Dean at the most comprehensive nutritional institute in Canada, and who has battled and overcome debilitating health issues herself (a water bottle is an accessory, right?!), moves beyond Captain Obvious of drinking more water and nibbling greens. Get ready to not just change what's on your plate, but add movement and mental mastery to the menu! THIS is how you make new habits stick, improve your health and become the happiest, most energetic person you know. Cordelia—the type who started a swear club in elementary school, because f—will get you there. Start today. Plus Cordelia spent A LOT of time figuring out the digestive system. She's got you covered.

Jill Amy

SATURDAY

October 27th, 2018

at PISE (Pacific Institute for Sport Excellence)

7:00 – 8:00 AM

Morning Workout

Eric Coppick

8:30 AM – 10:00 AM

Movement Screening and Corrective Exercise: Helpful or “Hype”Ful?

Tony Webster

Movement screening has become widespread in the fitness industry. But what useful information can be gleaned from these tests? Can they predict likelihood of injury? How can personal trainers and group fitness instructors apply “corrective exercises” in a safe and time-efficient fashion? Tony will provide an evidence-based overview of the pros and cons of popular movement screening tests and techniques.

An Algorithm for Youthful Aging

Debbie Cheong

An Algorithm for Youthful Aging. This session will explore strategies to maintain mobility, function and strength to effectively carry our active adults into their senior years.

10:30 AM – Noon

Integrating Speed Training into Practice

Jen Joyce

From high performance athletes to youth and seniors, everyone can benefit from sprint training, but not everyone should implement it in the same way. Learn why this concept is an essential component of every training program and how to implement it safely and correctly into your practice for all populations of individuals. This session will focus on sprint mechanics, proper technique, as well as drills, progressions and exercises to adequately challenge your clients. We will combine a lecture with practical hands on opportunities to learn how to do and teach these important skills. Come prepared to move, learn and have fun

Stand up! Walk!

Debbie Cheong

A look at the benefits of getting out of the chair to improve the effectiveness of our exercise programs for older adults to build strength, reduce falls risk, maintain their independence and improve quality of life.

1:30 – 2:30 PM

Injury Rehabilitation: Strategies for Performance, Recovery, & Sleep from a Mental Performance Perspective

Bruce Pinel

This will be an interactive and discussion-based ‘lecture’ style workshop. This workshop will introduce participants to some mental performance concepts and strategies designed to optimize performance, recovery, and sleep within an injury rehabilitation framework.

Games and Activities for Strength and Conditioning

Chris Wright

Learn new ways to engage your clients in fun warm-up activities and embed games in to your workouts.

3:00 – 4:30 PM

The Protein Paradox

Cordelia McFadyen

Vegan, keto, low carb, oh my! Protein is an essential yet often misunderstood macronutrient that requires our attention. This session will focus on understanding ranges for adequate protein consumption, how to support the gut when it comes to optimal protein digestion and the protein-brain connection. Special emphasis shall be placed on protein sources for trending diets such as veganism and the ketogenic diet. Questions and interaction is encouraged.

Olympic Weightlifting: Coaching and Progressions

Bryan Katz

Coach Katz will present on the basic of Olympic weight lifting. The focus will be on learning how to teach both yourself and your clients how to safely and effectively snatch and clean & jerk. We will start with basic mobility and proper physical preparation for the Olympic lifts. Followed by breaking down the technical components of each lift and how to progress through them. Leave feeling more confident with your weight lifting skills as both an athlete and as a trainer.

A comprehensive review of fat metabolism, hormones, caloric expenditure and female physiology related to exercise will be discussed. Several highly effective and new resistance training and endurance workouts (from studies) will be introduced.

Dance Fix

Kirsten Ho Chan

(A)

Spice up your fitness routine with a combination of cardiovascular training and muscle conditioning. This aerobic-style dance class will have you grooving through a fun, challenging workout. No dance experience necessary, but come prepared to get sweaty and silly!

Building Success for People Living with Cognitive and Physical Challenges

Corinne Dibert

(AVL)

Instructors teaching special or vulnerable populations can face challenges that are unique. Exercises need to be safe and relevant for participants with cognitive and physical limitations, yet also engaging and fun. This solution focused session will help keep participants coming back for more. We will take a look at class plans, teaching strategies as well as basic exercises and appropriate modifications. Get comfortable teaching a variety of participants.

Aqua Bootcamp

Krista Lavoie –
Aquatics Session

(A)

The term "boot camp" is used in the fitness industry to describe group fitness classes that promotes fat loss, camaraderie, and team effort. The original land-based classes were designed to push people beyond what they believed was their physical and mental limits of endurance. They commence with dynamic stretching and light cardio, followed by a wide variety of interval training, including lifting, pulling, plyometric, and various types of intense explosive routines. Sessions finish with a full body stretch that often includes components of mindfulness. In this Aqua Bootcamp course, you will learn how to translate the popular and successful techniques and drills used on land into the water. We will incorporate different resources and equipment found within community aquatic centers leaving you with new ideas and routines to integrate into your own personal Aqua training or teaching. I look forward to training with you.

History of the Vancouver Island Fitness Conference

The Island Fitness Conference began in 1989 as “Fit into the90’s”. The purpose of the Conference was to ensure that Vancouver Island fitness leaders had access to quality educational training on Vancouver Island. In 2000, “Fit into the 90’s” became “The Island Fitness Conference”. What started 25 years ago as a small group of volunteers has grown into a committee of programmers, instructors and fitness enthusiasts representing a good portion of Southern Vancouver Island.
